MOUNTAIN is pleased to present Mirror, Mirror featuring the work of Nicholas Steindorf and Raul Valverde. This exhibition is about simulated realities, intangible form, and the reflective nature of abstraction. For this exhibition Raul Valverde has created a 3D rendered "virtual sculpture" that exists solely as a computer-generated simulation, but draws from source images of the physical gallery space at Day & Night Projects. Nicholas Steindorf will present a series of video works incorporating digital animation and moving image "still lifes" of both real and simulated objects.

This off-site exhibition will take place at Day & Night Projects in Atlanta, Georgia. On view in the 2nd gallery at Day & Night Projects is In Time of Silver Rain, an exhibition of work by Michi Meko and Saige Rowe curated by Selena from Brooklyn, New York.
